

What matters most when we teach Shakespeare?

THE WORDS.

Befriending them is the key to understanding the play.

What went on in London,
or what the Globe Theatre looked like,
or how Shakespeare grew up . . .
none of that is important!

